any of them will lead to a compromise of some ethical principle and lead to an ethical violation. A crucial feature of an ethical dilemma is that the person faced with it should do both the conflicting acts, based on a strong ethical compass, but cannot; he may only choose one. Not choosing one is the condition that allows the person to choose the other.

The ethical issues in end-of-life care are enormous. The problem comes when difficult decisions are on the table. Healthcare workers should take a step to discuss the desires of patients for end-of-life care. There should be advance directives of patients before their condition gets worse, and they cannot decide for themselves.
